COVID, Climate Change, and Preparedness: Lessons Learned

Friday, November 18, 2022 | 9 AM – 5:30 PM

University of Arizona, Tucson, AZ

---

Social and environmental systems are threatened by multiple stressors, including climate change. This workshop will address lessons from the COVID-19 pandemic that can be applied in managing future extreme events. Join public health practitioners and climate experts in identifying strategies and solutions to inform public health, climate preparedness, and resilience.

Official invitation to follow.
